INDEX OF AUTHORS TO VOLUME VIII.

ALT, Dr. Adolph. Contributions to the Pathology of the Human Eye 103

AUB, Dr. Joseph. Ectropion Treated by Transplantation of Flaps without a Pedicle. (With six wood-cuts) 94

AYRES, W. C. On the Development of the Cornea and Anterior Chamber. (With Plates I and II.) 1

BULL, Charles S., M.D., and J. S. PROUT, M.D. Sarcoma of the Tarsus and Conjunctiva of the Lid, with Amyloid Infiltration. 73

BURNETT, Swan M., M.D. Abstract of the American Ophthalmological Literature, from July 1st, 1878 to July 1st, 1879. 532

——— A Systematic Method for the Education of the Color-Sense in Children 409

——— Results of an Examination of the Color-Sense of 3,040 Children in the Colored Schools of the District of Columbia. . 191

EWETSKY, Dr. Th. v. Contributions to the Knowledge of the Development of the Eye. (With Plates VII, VIII, and IX.) 429

HEYL, Albert G. The new Constants of the Helmholtz Diagramatic Eye 87

HIRSCHBERG, J. Contributions to the Anatomy and Pathology of the Eye. (With Plate IV, Figs. 1 to 8.) 224

——— Notes on the Operative Treatment of Detachment of the Retina 11

——— Report on the Progress of Ophthalmology for the First Half of the Year 1878 . 127, 277

——— Selected Clinical Cases observed during the Year 1878. (Plate VI, and Fig. 5, Plate V.) 351

HOTZ, F. C., M.D. A New Operation for Entropion and Trichiasis 249

——— On the so-called Ptosis Atonica; its Nature and Treatment 400

JAEGER, Prof. Edward von. A Case of Successful Extraction of a piece of a Gun-cap from the Posterior Chamber of the Eye 396

KNAPP, H. A Case of Paresis of the Ocular Muscles from Coal-gas Poisoning 493

——— A Case of Severe Iritis and Glaucoma following Iridencleisis 497

——— Report and Remarks on a Sixth Hundred of Cataract Extractions, Performed according to von Graefe's Method . 200

——— Three Cases of Successful Removal of Sarcoma of the Iris 82

——— Two Cases of Foreign Body within the Eye 486

LANDESBERG, Dr. M. On the Therapeutic Use of Eserine in Glaucoma 264

——— On the Therapeutic Use of Jaborandi and Muriate of Pilocarpine in Eye Diseases . 118

LANDSBERG, M. Sarcoma of the Choroid in Children. (Plate V, Figs. 2, 3 and 4.) 345

LORING, Francis B., M.D. Modification of the Artificial Leech . 529

MAGNUS, Dr. H., and Dr. A. NIEDEN. Report on the Progress of Ophthalmology for the Second Half of the Year 1878 413

MANZ, Prof. W. Extirpation of an Osteoma from the Orbit. (With Table V, Fig 1.) 320

MAUTHNER, Ludwig. Glaucoma Aphorisms 25

MULES, P. H. Rare Form of Intraocular Growth, Probably Sympathetic 484

NETTLESHIP, Edward, F.R.C.S. On a rare Form of Primary Opacity (Transverse Calcareous Film) of the Cornea 293

NIEDEN, Dr. A. Four Cases of Coloboma of the Sheath of the Optic Nerve, without additional Fissure in the Uveal Tract . . 501

——— Three Cases of Retrobulbar, Pulsating, Vascular Tumor—Ligation of the Carotid—Recovery 328

——— and Dr. H. MAGNUS. Report on the Progress of Ophthalmology for the Second Half of the Year 1878 413

——— Report on the Progress of Ophthalmology for the Second Half of the Year 1878 . . . 514

NOYES, Henry D., M.D. Report of a Case of Melanotic Epithelioma upon the Front of the Eye. Extirpation of the Tumor and Preservation of the Globe and of Sight 145

PAGENSTECHER, Dr. Hermann. Cases of Injuries of the Eye. (Fig. 9, Plate IV.) 242

PROUT, J. S., M.D., and Charles S. BULL, M.D. Sarcoma of the Tarsus and Conjunctiva of the Lid, with Amyloid Infiltration 73

ROOSA, D. B. St. John, M.D. A Case of Poisoning from the Use of the Compound Tincture of Cinchona, producing Permanent Contraction of the Visual Field and Temporary Impairment of Sight and Hearing . 392

SEELY, Dr. W. W. On the Use of Duboisine 79

STILLING, Dr. J. The Present Aspect of the Color Question. (With Plate III.) 164

VOGLER, E., M.D. Contributions from Dr. Hirschberg's Eye-Clinic. (With Plate V, Figs. 6 to 8.) 374

WALDO, LEONARD. Note on the Adaptation of the Opera Glass to Extremely Myopic Eyes . . 547

INDEX OF SUBJECTS TO VOLUME VIII.

Abstract of the American Ophthalmologicel Literature, from July 1st, 1878 to July 1st, 1879. By Swan M. Burnett, M.D., of Washington, D. C. . . . 532

Anatomy. Contributions to the —and Pathology of the Eye. By J. Hirschberg, of Berlin. (With Plate IV, Figs. 1 to 8.) 224

Anterior Chamber. On the Development of the Cornea and. By Dr. W. C. Ayres, of New York. (With Plates I and II.) 1

Cases. Selected Clinical—observed during the Year 1878. By Dr. J. Hirschberg, of Berlin. (Plate VI, and Fig. 5, Plate V.) 351

Cataract. Report and Remarks on a Sixth Hundred of—Extractions, performed according to von Graefe's Method. By H. Knapp . , ... 200

Choroid. Sarcoma of the—in Children. By M. Landsberg, of Görlitz. (Plate V, Figs. 2, 3 and 4.) 345

Cinchona. A Case of Poisoning from the Use of the Compound Tincture of—producing Permanent Contraction of the Visual Field and Temporary Impairment of Sight and Hearing. By D. B. St. John Roosa, M.D. 392

Coloboma. Four Cases of—of the Sheath of the Optic Nerve, without additional Fissure in the Uveal Tract. By Dr. A. Nieden, of Bochum 501

Color-Question. The Present Aspect of the. By Dr. J. Stilling, of Cassel. (With Plate III.) . 164

Color-Sense. A Systematic Method for the Education of—in Children. By Swan M. Burnett, M.D., of Washington, D. C. 409

——— Results of an Examination of the—of 3,040 Children in the Colored Schools of the District of Columbia. By Dr. Swan M. Burnett, Washington. D. C. 191

Constants. The new—of the Helmholtz Diagrammatic Eye. By Dr. Albert G. Heyl, of Philadelphia 87

Contributions from Dr. Hirschberg's Eye Clinic. By E. Vogler, M.D., Assistant Surgeon. (With Plate V, Figs. 6 to 8.) . 374

Cornea. On a Rare form of Primary Opacity (Transverse Calcareous Film) of the. By Edward Nettleship, F. R. C. S. 293

——— On the Development of the—and Anterior Chamber. By Dr. W. C. Ayres, of New York. (With Plates I and II). 1

Detachment. Notes on the Operative Treatment of—of the Retina. By J. Hirschberg, of Berlin 11

Development. Contributions to the Knowledge of the—of the Eye. By Dr. Th. v. Ewetsky, of Heidelberg. (With Plates VII, VIII and IX) 429

Duboisine. On the Use of. By Dr. W. W. Seely, of Cincinnati, O. 79

Ectropion Treated by Transplantation of Flaps without Pedicle. By Dr. Joseph Aub, of Cincinnati. (With six wood-cuts.) . 94

Entropion. A New Operation for—and Trichiasis. By F. C. Hotz., M. D., of Chicago, Ill. 249

Epithelioma. Report of a Case of Melanotic—upon the Front of the Eye. Extirpation of the Tumor and Preservation of the Globe and of Sight. By Henry D. Noyes, M.D., of New York. 145

Eserine. On the Therapeutic Use of—in Glaucoma. By Dr. M. Landesberg, of Philadelphia . 264

Extirpation of an Osteoma from the Orbit. By Prof. W. Manz, of Freiburg, I. B. (With Table V, Fig. 1.) 320

Extraction. A Case of Successful—of a Piece of a Gun-cap from the Posterior Chamber of the Eye. By Prof. Edward von Jaeger, of Vienna 396

Eye-Clinic. Contributions from Dr. Hirschberg's. By E. Vogler, M.D., Ass't Surgeon. (With Plate V, Figs. 6 to 8.) . . . 374

Foreign Bodies. Two Cases of—within the Eye. By H. Knapp. 486

Glaucoma. A Case of Severe Iritis and—following Iridencleisis. By H. Knapp . . . 497

——— Aphorisms. By Ludwig Mauthner 25

——— On the Therapeutic Use of Eserine in. By Dr. M. Landesberg, of Philadelpia . 264

Growth. Rare Form of Intraocular—Probably Sympathetic. By P. H. Mules, of Manchester, England 484

Gun-cap. A Case of Successful Extraction of a Piece of a—from the Anterior Chamber of the Eye. By Prof. Edward von Jaeger, of Vienna 396

Injuries. Cases of—of the Eye. By Dr. Hermann Pagenstecher, of Wiesbaden. (Com. Fig. 9, Plate IV.) 242

Intraocular Growth. Rare Form of—Probably Sympathetic. By P. H. Mules, of Manchester, England. 484

Iritis. A Case of Severe—and Glaucoma, following Iridencleisis. By H. Knapp . . . 497

Jaborandi. On the Therapeutic Use of—and Muriate of Pilocarpine in Eye Diseases. By M. Landesberg, of Philadelphia . 118

Leech. Modification of the Artificial. By Francis B. Loring, M.D., Washington, D. C. . . 529

Opacity. On a Rare Form of Primary—(Transverse Calcareous Film) of the Cornea. By Edward Nettleship, F.R.C.S. 293

Opera Glass. Note on the Adaptation of the—to Extremely Myopic Eyes. By Leonard Waldo, of Harvard University 547

Ophthalmology. Report on the Progress of—for the First Half of the year 1878. By J. Hirschberg, of Berlin 127, 277

——— Report of the Progress of—for the Second Half of the year 1878. By Dr. H. Magnus, of Breslau, and Dr. A. Nieden, of Bochum 413

Optic Nerve. Four Cases of Coloboma of the Sheath of the—without additional Fissure in the Uveal Tract. By Dr. H. Nieden, of Bochum 501

Osteoma. Extirpation of an—from the Orbit. By Prof. W. Manz, of Freiburg, I. B. (With Fig. 1, Table V.) 320

Paresis, A Case of—of the Ocular Muscles from Coal-gas Poisoning. By H. Knapp . . . 493

Pathology. Contributions to the Anatomy and—of the Eye. By J. Hirschberg, of Berlin. (With Plate IV, Figs. 1 to 8.) . . . 224

——— Contributions to the—of the Human Eye. By Dr. Adolph Alt, of Toronto . . 103

Pilocarpine. On the Therapeutic Use of Jaborandi and Muriate of—in Eye Diseases By Dr. M. Landesburg, of Philadelphia 118

Poisoning. A Case of Paresis of the Ocular Muscles from Coal-gas. By H. Knapp. 493

——— A Case of—from the Use of the Compound Tincture of Cinchona, producing Permanent Contraction of the Visual Field and Permanent Contraction of Sight and Hearing. By D. B. St. John Roosa, M.D. 392

Ptosis. On the so-called—Atonica; its Nature and Treatment. By F. C. Hotz, of Chicago 400

Retina. Notes on the Operative Treatment of Detachment of the. By J. Hirschberg, of Berlin 11

Sarcoma of the Choroid in Children. By M. Landsberg, of Görlitz. (Plate V, Figs. 2, 3, 4) 345

——— of the Tarsus and Conjunctiva of the Lid, with Amyloid Infiltration. By J. S. Prout, M.D., of Brooklyn, and Charles S. Bull, M.D., of New York 73

——— Three Cases of Successful Removal of—of the Iris. By H. Knapp 82

Transplantation. Ectropion Treated by—of Flaps without Pedicle. By Dr. Joseph Aub, of Cincinnati. (With six woodcuts.) 94

Trichiasis. A New Operation for Entropion and. By F. C. Hotz, M.D., of Chicago, Ill. 249

Tumor. Three Cases of Retrobulbar, Pulsating, Vascular—; Ligation of the Carotid; Recovery. By Dr. A. Nieden, of Bochum 328